Mr. Ertel's Loan to Mrs. Gray.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal The Journal has seen proper, recently, on several occasions to use the words "shark," "robber" and others of similar significance in connection with my business and name. I haven't the slightest objection to a fair statement being made at any time of my business transactions. but when such a gross misstatement as that in relation to the Gray case, in your issue of the 13th, is published, I feel that it is about my time to make a kick. I do not pretend to loan money at 6 per cent. interest, and have never loaned a dollar to any man or woman without first fully explaining my terms. Our rates of interest are high, because the risks we take are great. They usually belong to the "extra hazardous" class. It has not infrequently been the case that a customer would have a half dozen concurrent mortgages on the same preperty, and in each case in obtaining the loan would make an affidavit that the property was free from incumbrance. Again, in many instances, when the loan becomes due neither property nor borrower is to be found. But as to the Gray case, submit the affidavit of Mrs. Ollie Gray and ask you to give this statement and the affidavit the same publicity you have to the articles attacking me. J. C. ERTEL

State of Indiana, Marion county, ss.: Mrs. Ollie Gray, being duly sworn, on her oath says that the statements made in the Indianapolis Journal of May 18, 1893, in relation to the loans made by her from J. C. Ertel personally, and as agent for other parties, is grossly incor-rect; that, instead of reiving only $45, in their various loans she received $93; that instead of having paid $98, she has only paid, in the two the loans have been runyears ning. $46; that she has always understood perfectly well what interest or commission she was to pay, and has never been misled by any statement in regard to the matter made by Mr. Ertel. That Mr. Ertel is not now, nor has he at any time, claimed more from her than was due under her contract, all of which she is willing and expects to pay; that she has never employed any attorney to resist or question the validity or justice of the claim, and does not intend to do so. Mas. OLLIE GRAY. [Seal.] Subscribed and sworn to before me this 8th day o June, 1893. ALBERT T. BECK,

Why Not Gratify the People? To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal

Mr. English, the monument commissioner, in an interview with one of your reporters, says the commissioners do not particularly care which way the crowning figure faces. If this be true, then why not please the vast majority of people in the city who do care. Why stubbornly stand out against public opinions. INDIANAPOLIS, June 9.

Church People and the Fair.

New York Independent. What should be the attitude of Christian men and women toward this international fairf They have been strongly advised to boycott it, to remove their exhibits from the grounds and to refrain from visiting it. We have never believed that such a movement could be successfully conducted. We have not advocated it and shall not do so now. The fair ought not, in our judgment, to be condemned because it has been opened to the public on Sundays. It is legitimately open six days in the week. It is a legitimate fair six days in the week, If any have lost interest in it because it is open seven days insted of six, and do not want to visit it, well and good. Let them stay away. Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind as to whether he shall go or not go. We can see no wrong in visiting the fair on any week day. We do not believe any good can come from advising Christian people to stay away altogether. The churches ought not to take any such attitude. Let them make their protest fairly and squarely against Sunday opening, as they have done. But for them now to propose a boycott would be unwise, unnecessary and illogical.

New York Times A caution to the woman story writer of a certain sort who is apt to rhapsodize over the "small white pearls" which she puts in her heroine's mouth is found in the words of a dentist, heard recently. "Undersized teeth," he says, "are evi-dences of undersized character. Small teeth are not to be desired, no matter bow white and regular they may be. They indicate a small nature almost invariably.
